MAJ. GEN. LE JEUNE DIES IN BALTIMORE

Former Marine Commandant
Stricken at Age of 73.

By The Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20.—Major General Jean A. LeJeune, former commandant of the U. S. Marine Corps, died in Union Memorial hospital this morning.

Major General LeJeune, 73, who since 1929 had been superintendent of the Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, Va., had been seriously ill for about three weeks.

Survivors include his widow, the former Miss Ellie Harrison Murdaugh, of Portsmouth, Va.; three daughters, Mrs. Glenn, wife of Capt. James R. Glenn, of the U. S. Navy; Mrs. Laura T. LeJeune, and Mrs. Eugene D. LeJeune.

The 40 years of service which General LeJeune gave to the United States Marine Corps brought him recognition as one of the ablest military leaders of his time.

Noted for his ability and achievements as an organizer and commander of forces in earlier international crises, he became famous during the World War I for his leadership of the American Expeditionary Forces in the assault on the German defenses during the last year of the war. He was a member of the Marine Corps since 1903 and served in the Philippines, Mexico and during the U. S. Marine Corps in 1914.

When General LeJeune was appointed commander of the Marine Corps on June 12, 1929, Secretary Daniels of the Navy remarked that he was not only regarded as one of the ablest leaders of the American military forces, but one of the most distinguished soldiers of the World War.

As commander of the Second division of the Marine Corps and regular army regiments, General LeJeune led his troops in numerous important engagements, including St. Michel, Mont Blanc, Champagne and the Meuse-Argonne. He was awarded the Army and Navy distinguished service medals, Legion of Honor and the French Croix de Guerre.

A descendant of the Acadians driven out of Nova Scotia by the English, General LeJeune was born on a plantation in Pointe Coupee Parish, Louisiana, January 10, 1870, the son of Ovide and Laura Archer LeJeune. After studying at Louisiana State university for three years, he entered the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., in 1891. He was graduated in 1895 and served in the U. S. Marine Corps in the Philippines, Mexico and during the U. S. Marine Corps in 1914.

Although not of retirement age, General LeJeune retired voluntarily in 1929 to become superintendent of the Virginia Military Institute.

RULES AGAINST UNION CLEVELAND, Nov. 20.—A 10-page pamphlet examined and recommended that Standard Oil Co. of Ohio be ordered to "renew and expand" its plan for organizing the Association of Petroleum Workers, an independent union, as a bargaining agent for its employees. The order would be issued by the CIO of workers in Toledo. The order would affect SoHo plants here and in Toledo and Lorain.

Kenton Honors Southworth

Manager of World Series
Winner Recalls Early
Hardin Co. Days.

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., Nov. 20.—Billy Southworth, manager of the 1912 World Series pennant winners, the St. Louis Cardinals, was given a "welcome home" party last night by Kenton Lodge No. 137, B. P. O. Elks, of which he has been a member since he played with the Kenton Reds back in 1911.

Three hundred and fifty members and guests, including lodge men from Marion, Wapakoneta, Lima and Upper Sandusky, sat down to a turkey dinner "with all the trimmings."

Gift Presented
Climax of the evening came when J. R. Stilling, attorney and one of the three oldest living ball-players in Kenton—he played on the old Kenton Juniors, the first outstanding semi-professional team the community ever had—presented Southworth with a jewel-studded service pin in honor of his son, Billy Jr., who is an Army air corps pilot in foreign service. The pin was a gift from the lodge.

Baseball was the only topic of the evening.

Southworth entertained the group with an account of his experiences with the Cards, relieving some of the tense moment in the pre-World Series stretch when the St. Louis team won 44 of the last 52 games, and then he gave his audience the inside story of the strategy that won the series.

The peppery manager explained how he "worked over" the St. Louis team, selling some of the older players, bringing in new blood and finally welding the team into one of the most harmonious aggregations the fans have ever watched on a baseball diamond.

Recalls Old Days
Mr. Stilling reminisced on Kenton's early baseball history and about players the community has sent to the major leagues.

Another of the guests was Jeff Haines of Columbus who played with Southworth on the series-winning Cards team of 1926. Haines was a pitcher and Southworth played in the outfield.

Also present was Jim Dugan of Kenton and Columbus, manager of the old Kenton Reds team who brought Southworth from Columbus to Kenton as a boy of 17 and watched him develop as a player. Southworth first played as catcher and then switched to the outfield, playing in the outfield for the remainder of his career as a player. At the time Southworth played with the Kenton Reds the team was regarded as one of the best semi-pro outfits in Ohio. From Kenton Southworth went to Portsmouth and from there to the American league team in Cleveland.

Three members of the 1911 Kenton Reds team were in the dinner party last night. Mike Clabaugh, Kenton postman, and Ed Kettle and Cliff Biddinger, both machinists in Kenton. Frank Schindewolf presided as master of ceremonies.

Radio station WMRN made a 30-minute recording of part of the Southworth program. The recording was broadcast in a special program at 10:15 last night. Lou Marsh, program director at WMRN, today said the recording would again be broadcast Sunday.

Marion Group Present at Dinner

Attending the dinner at Kenton last night honoring Billy Southworth were several Marion men. They included: Patsy Weller, Grant E. Mouser Jr., Harold E. Monnette, Lee Schuler, Jimmy Russo, Jack Houbner, R. T. Mason and Lou Marsh.

Weller became acquainted with the St. Louis manager nearly 30 years ago when both players were just breaking into organized baseball. Both were newcomers to the Class O Ohio State league around 1912. Southworth with Portsmouth and Weller with the Marion club.

PAY RAISE DENIED, WORKERS STRIKE

Cleveland War Plant Down
After WLB Ruling.

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, Nov. 20.—Production of parts for army equipment and lend-lease materials at the National Malleable & Steel Castings Co. was at a standstill today as a result of a work stoppage attributed to a war labor board referee's disapproval of wage increases.

More than 1,000 employees, members of the AFL United Automobile Workers Union, ceased work late yesterday as word spread through the plant that W. W. Dawson, WLB referee, had recommended against pay raises sought under a cost-of-living contract clause.

Rufus Seale, local union president, said the men ignored pleas for resumption of operations, and the company informed the WLB that unless it took "immediate action" a "serious strike appears certain."

George J. Leisoux, assistant plant manager, said the plant was shut down completely. He expressed the opinion that the work stoppage was against the WLB instead of the company.

Employees' spokesmen claimed they were "locked out" after a slowdown resulting from the referee's report. In urging the men to go back to work, union officials reminded them that the WLB had not acted on the referee's report and would not act while the men were idle.

Dawson's report said the workers had received increases of 24 1/2 cents an hour since Oct. 28, 1940, and were not entitled to a further raise. Additional individual and group increases brought the total raises to 21 1/2 per cent, compared with the 15 per cent basis in the "little steel" formula, it added.

ARE WE GOING TO HAVE ENOUGH FOOD?

In The Midst Of Plenty, Americans Must Adjust Food Buying To Wartime Conditions. Here's The Truth About The Food Situation—Facts Every Homemaker Should Know To Make The Most Of Our Supply!

BLESSED with good weather, America's farming families have labored long and well to bring forth a mighty harvest—by every standard the greatest in our country's history. For this we can give humble thanks. From the standpoint of our total food supply, no one need go hungry. But even with this unprecedented bounty of grain, fruit, vegetables, live stock and dairy products, we have been jarred to learn that our "plenty" is hardly enough. Here are the facts about the food situation.

Increased Demand—Not only must we keep our own soldiers and sailors the best-fed fighting men on earth, but we must act as the larder as well as the arsenal of our many brave allies. Thus the demand is tremendous—so tremendous that even the amazing productivity of American farmers cannot meet it.

Shortages in Farm Labor—Industry and the armed forces are drawing increasingly large numbers of workers from farms. The farm labor shortage is very real. Even now the services of women, children and old people are required to get crops grown and harvested.

Shortages in Farm Machinery—Under the pressure of arms production, farm-machinery manufacture is cut to one-fifth of the 1940 volume—at a time when the need for farm machinery is greater than ever before.

Shortages in Transportation—Farm products are bulky, heavy—as are the goods farmers buy for production. That means heavy demands on rubber and rail transport, now seriously curtailed. Warning for the future is that bulky items without much food value probably will not be shipped at all.

Shop Wisely—Buy "Victory Food Specials"—To release for overseas more canned or dried foods, government and industry are promoting Victory Food Specials—perishable foods that are in season and plentiful. Watch for these "Specials" on display at your grocers. When you buy them you help save tin and shipping and release more foods for our fighting men!

Help Cut Down Deliveries—Unless present delivery equipment is carefully maintained, the bread on the family dinner table and milk for baby's bottle are definitely hazarded. For your protection, government has ordered stores to eliminate special deliveries, call-backs and multiple trips to the same sections—and further reduce delivery mileage by 25%. Don't blame your grocer for delays. He's doing the best he can. Help out by planning your orders. Carry all you can or buy ahead for the whole week!

Buy What Is Produced Locally—If there's locally caught fish on the market where you live, eat it regularly. Do the same with perishable fruits and vegetables grown in neighboring districts. By taking up the surplus in your own community you relieve the transportation shortage.

Coffee... Don't Waste It—Coffee will be rationed beginning Nov. 29th, but don't "take it out" on your grocer. Remember... ships are carrying more product overseas! Actually, there's still enough coffee for our armed forces, civilians, and the home front. But don't waste it. Use it in your coffee, or in your cooking. For example, you can use it in your coffee, or in your cooking. For example, you can use it in your coffee, or in your cooking.

Follow These 5 Commandments—As a patriotic American, and as a wise and thrifty homemaker, be guided by these five commandments of wartime menu planning:

1. Buy what is plentiful.
2. Buy what is fresh.
3. Buy what is produced locally.
4. Buy what the government asks you to buy through its Victory Food Program.
5. Don't hoard or waste food.

Now, as always, the House of Heinz is extending every effort to provide you with the most delicious, highest-quality foods that can be produced. Yet because of the tin shortage, and the vast quantities of food needed for our fighting forces, you may have difficulty getting some of your old favorites.

When your grocer does have sufficient supplies of the 17 Varieties, however, don't buy more than you need. For your neighbor, too, wants to share the old-time goodness and flavor of these famous key-stone-labeled foods.

There is still plenty of these spicy Heinz Condiments and Pickles to brighten meals, less meat and still delicious. So, plan your grocer will have his new Condensed Soups that taste just as good as the pre-war ready-to-serve kind.

Heinz Research Department is still working ahead with experiments on new products and packaging methods so that you will be able to continue enjoying Heinz home-testing foods, despite wartime demands and restrictions.

Spain, Like a Sore Thumb

NAZI occupation of southern France, increasing moment possibility of an attack on Spain, now the center of the Franco government, are the vital conditions of success in the European phase of the war.

Viewed solely as a situation in the battle for control of the Mediterranean, instead of emotionally as a battleground of ideologies, Spain must be kept out of the hands of the Germans. If they possessed the peninsula, it would be like a sore thumb impeding Allied efforts in the Mediterranean.

Spain multiplies that the Spanish government is prepared to maintain its sovereignty with arms, if necessary. It has accepted assurances that the United States has no designs on its territory. The danger lies on its northern boundary, where the German army is collecting. It goes without saying that if Hitler thought Spain would be useful he would try to seize it without delay.

Surprise Is Not Initiative

IT IS being said that the initiative in the war has changed hands. Actually, it may be questioned whether the other side ever possessed the true initiative, or ever can expect to wrest it from its present hands.

Germany has exploited the advantages of surprise against opposition that was plumbly weak. It has reaped the benefit of meticulous planning and organization. It has made the most of its enemies' great capacity for not recognizing what it did not find pleasant to think about.

Japan has proved adept at infiltration and treachery. It, too, has profited enormously from surprise tactics based on elaborately careful and accurate planning. Like the Germans, the Japanese have scored their successes against opposition that was woefully inadequate to deal with an alert, aggressive foe.

Both nations have been made to look more powerful than they were by the ineptitude of the opposition. They have been able to give the appearance of exploiting their initiative to the utmost by the fact their enemies were in no position to fight back on even terms. The question they have raised is not whether they could be defeated but how long it would take, because their initiative consisted chiefly of surprise, not long-range ability.

In the simile of sports, they were like a team that catches a stronger opponent napping to make a series of goals, but is doomed to lose if the other team wakes up in time to show what it can do. The United States have waked up in time. They have seized the true initiative based on manpower, resources and confidence in their ability to win. At least they are in position to make the first moves and to win them, not because they surprised the enemy but because the enemy was powerless to stop them.

That is the way the war will be won, by superior force, not by a series of lightning sucker punches. Germany pinned its hopes on that theory in World War I and lost. It and Japan—and Italy—have repeated the same mistake in World War II.

No Puppets

THE PRESIDENT'S ready acknowledgment that Admiral Darian is being used to gain time and save lives and in no way reflects the official attitude of the United States is reassuring.

Even more important, however, is his reminder that the United States is committed to no particular leader for Frenchmen. Their leadership is their own business. That seems to mean this government is not in the business of setting up puppets.

Ideally, the United States would use its influence in the war to demonstrate the possibilities of representative democracy so forcefully that popular government would sell itself. Thereafter, if France or any other country, struggling to rehabilitate itself after the war, preferred dictatorship, that would be its own business.

It might leave a lot to be desired for post-war reorganization, but any plan based on puppets would leave a lot more.

News Behind the News

Fancy Proposals Expected To Vanish When Peace Conferences Finally Come.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Advocates of a global state, or a partitioned world in unity, after the war, are hurrying louder now— but it is evident that more authoritative spokesmen and more tangible facts already are sailing down town piers.

Berndt recent events, it is obvious that the post-war world is going to be lived by negotiation, based on common sense (economic, financial and political) prevailing at the end of the war, rather than by the hope of American idealists or Europe's democratic refugees.

For instance, Mr. Churchill's announcement he was not conducting business was to accomplish the dismemberment of the British empire. A shocked answer to the prime minister was given—not by any statesman who will be at the peace table, but by one who has no official position which would take him there. Mr. Wallace, the world statesman was silent.

Similarly American official devotees of global unity are making moving speeches on the subject. But Mr. Roosevelt, who will have the final say, has contented himself recently with advocating the practical Philippine system of establishing independence among smaller states by mutually acceptable short, sure, progressive steps over years and decades.

Fancy Plans

Mr. Wallace, the vice president; Thomas Mann, the greatest living literary artist; Archibald MacLeish, the political poet laureate, and others of that wing, are crusading among the intellectuals of this country in favor of eradicating every selfish impulse in the future world; giving every one in the world a quart of milk a day; and making all nations live hereafter in some form of selfless, God-loving state, yet systematized in their minds. They even promoted a new Bill of Rights last Sunday. It was issued by the National Resources Planning Board, and contained such unappealing suggestions as "the right to work, to fair pay, to rest and leisure." The New York Times played it back on page 51. Otherwise, it was also generally unnoticed.

Others To Consider

From all this evidence, it is clear Messrs. Wallace, Mann, et al., have neglected to note the primary necessity for success of their cause, they forgot unity is a mutual affair. Any kind of unity, global or otherwise, must be a genuine, freely entered agreement by all participating sides.

It is plain our victorious peace is not going to be written by Mr. Wallace, or even by Mr. Roosevelt, but at a table where Churchill, Stalin, Chiang Kai Shek and others sit. When Messrs. Wallace and Mann's aggressive Mr. Churchill pledges himself to the maintenance of the British empire (including India) and Stalin, yes, Stalin, whose democratic ideals were lauded by Mr. Wallace, speaks not a word about democracy, or Atlantic charters, or bill of rights, or Russia's plan for post-war. He did not send anything to the New York Herald-Tribune forum.

Paternalism

Apparently, we good Americans are the only nationality in the world talking about building international TVA's, international banks, giving a quart of milk a day, "global states," "world unity." No one else is. All Churchill wanted at the New York Herald-Tribune forum, for instance, was the right to run his own country. All that Queen Wilhelmina wanted was "justice and firmness tempered by wisdom."

If Mr. Wallace theoretically was able to effect the kind of unity he talks about, under these circumstances, it would not be unity, but paternalism—American paternalism over the world, with our money, the paper pays the bills, but does not necessarily have the love of the children.

A Mutual Peace

Thus are the prospects for post-war settling down upon the basis of reality and fact, far aside from the flights of fancy of our most audacious hopefulness. Thus it is now apparent peace and the better world hereafter will be defined by compromise and mutual acceptance, rather than what any of our boys think and want. The consultation will be between the United States, Britain, Russia and others, and the conclusions (to endure) must be mutually acceptable to all.

True, the war is yet to be won, but here, at least, is the beginning of concrete understanding as to what it may bring. This is not at all discouraging to anyone who has realized that men are not yet divine, and that progress is created on stills is bound to fall. It forecasts a more realistic, and, therefore, more lasting and genuine peace than we have been hearing about.

Old American Custom

Filibuster Used Against Anti-Poll Tax Proposal.

ONCE MORE the threat of filibuster has been raised in the United States senate. The end of a session and the end of the 77th congress approach—the ideal setting for the stratagem of talking a bill to death.

The nominal issue is whether or not congress should take a stand against the poll taxes that certain southern states retain in order to keep Negroes from the polls. The underlying issue is, however, what it always has been in a filibuster—the majority's rule against the minority's rights.

Southern senators are claiming rights over which the United States fought a civil war, rights that are inherent in the south's whole social and economic organization. Like all filibusters, they contend that the minority must not be hindered over roughshod by the majority.

The majority retorts that the supreme court will protect all minority rights that are really valid. Whereupon, the filibuster retorts that if the majority feels strongly on the legislation in question and is not merely trying to put the minority in an unfavorable light it has ways and means of breaking the filibuster.

The majority can convene the senate in session early and keep it sitting late, for instance. In the famous and successful 46-day filibuster in 1891 against the force bill for federal supervision of elections in the south, under certain conditions, the senate was kept in continuous session for four days and four nights.

SINCE 1917, as a result of the filibuster against the bill to arm merchant ships against German submarines, the senate has been able to break a filibuster by applying the rule of closure. After closure is applied to a pending measure, it becomes the unfinished business of the senate, to the exclusion of all other business. Thereafter no senator may speak for more than one hour, no new amendment may be offered, except by unanimous consent, no dilatory amendments or motions are in order and all points of order must be decided without debate.

A two-thirds vote of senators present is necessary to apply closure. In 1937 southern senators filibustered against the anti-lynching bill which had been passed by the house. Two motions were made for closure; both failed to achieve a majority. The first closure motion was opposed by 51 per cent of the Democrats and 92 per cent of the Republicans; the second, by 47 per cent of the Democrats and 77 per cent of the Republicans.

The Democrats accused the Republicans of playing politics because, although most Republicans ostensibly favored the anti-lynching bill, they would not vote for closure to bring it to a vote. The Republicans accused administration heads of playing politics because, although they opposed the bill, they would not turn on pressure either to break the filibuster or to put closure across. At all events, after six weeks the senate yielded to the filibuster and laid the anti-lynching bill aside.

THE TRUTH is that almost all senators are loath to see closure applied. The senate zealous cherishes its right of unlimited debate, and no senator knows when he may want to avail himself of it. No motion for closure has been made since 1937. Altogether, since 1917 only 13 closure motions have been made, and only four of these have been successful—Treaty of Versailles, 1919; World Court, 1926; banking bill, 1927; prohibition reorganization, 1927.

The house limits debate, so that direct filibusters in the house are impossible. However, something akin to a filibuster occurs when a house committee refuses to report out a bill obviously favored by a majority of the house members. A vote to discharge the committee from the bill may be obtained by a petition signed by a majority of the house members.

Last senate filibusters were likely to occur in a biennial short session. The biennial long session usually would end in the late spring or early summer, and no filibuster could hope to succeed for six months. Adoption of the 20th amendment, abolishing the short session, was expected to end filibusters; it was not foreseen that congress would meet in regular session throughout the year.

The present filibuster is using such obstructionist tactics as incessant demands for quorums, irrelevant debate was another favorite filibustering method of the past; in 1903 Sen. "Pitchfork" Bill Tamm of South Carolina threatened to read all of Byron's "Child Harold" aloud unless the senate voted to pay a claim to his estate. The La Follette-Gore-Stone filibuster of 1903 against the Aldrich currency bill failed because Sen. Gore was blind. He finished a speech under the mistaken impression that Sen. Stone was on hand to relieve him. Thereupon the filibusters lost the floor, and a vote could be taken.

Get Tax Exemption

STOCKHOLM.—In an effort to stimulate the fishing industry, the government has announced that fishermen will receive an exemption of 30 per cent of the war profits tax on surplus income. Fish has become a more important part of the Swedish diet owing to the small amounts of meat and other foodstuffs allowed under rationing.

MORE DARK MEAT, PLEASE!

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Nov. 20, 1932. War veterans from Marion and vicinity in a service conducted on Oak street paid tribute to a number of veterans from the area in a ceremony for presentation of a Purple Heart medals. Following a parade in which 400 persons took part, 44 World War soldiers from Marion, Richmond, Mt. Victory, La Rue, Marysville, Columbus, Marengo, Green Camp and Nevada received the awards. All were for veterans who were wounded or cited for gallantry, and the only exception to World War veterans in the group was James H. Buchanan, 93, of Morral, who served in the Civil War.

John D. McKinnis, 90, Prospect's last Civil War veteran, died at his home there.

A Marion friend who called at the home of Earl Lucas, 60, a bachelor who lived alone four miles northeast of Marion, found him dead, apparently from a head-on fall downstairs.

Members of the Far Away club held their annual pheasant dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Faurer in Morral. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fulton of Harding Highway-E.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Monday, Nov. 20, 1922. The 67th congress recalled by President Harding to act on the administration ship subsidy bill, convened in Washington at noon. The president was to outline his request for legislation in a special message the following day.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Layman of Latourette street.

Judge Louis Eubanks of Indianapolis, who had been visiting Dr. and Mrs. George T. Harding of East Center street, returned home.

Announcement was made that O. L. Bradley had resigned as general superintendent of the Hatfield-Henfield Co. of Bucyrus to become manager of the Gallon Iron Works and Manufacturing Co.

Two hundred Marion residents heard Sir Harry Lauder, Scottish singer and humorist, speak at joint meetings of the Marion and Rotary clubs at the Marion club house.

He came here in his private car during a nationwide tour. "America," he said, "is a great country with a great people, but there are too many people living under the protection of the American flag who are not Americans."

The Searchlight club met with Mrs. Harry Smith on South State street.

Mrs. James B. Guthrie was hostess to the Woman's club at her home on East Center street.

Marion Steam Shovel club held the opening banquet of its winter season in the dining room of the company plant. Harvey T. Gracely was toastmaster.

A news report from Delaware stated that Harry L. Dowler and Edwin Knichel of Marion, members of the Ohio Wesleyan football squad, were almost certain to be in the starting line up in Wesleyan's battle with Denison at Granville Saturday for championship honors.

Miss Evelyn Eleanor Lau and Willis H. Walter, both of Marion, were married by Dr. Jesse Swank, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, at his home on East Center street.

Mediterranean Islands

Invasion of Africa Increases Their Value.

WHILE Americans have been watching military developments on the Solomon islands in the south Pacific, islands in the Mediterranean have been making history.

Gen. Gort, commander of British forces on Malta, most bombed place in the war, has said he is looking forward to the day when that tiny Mediterranean island would become a base for an invasion of Italy.

German and Italian troops are reported to have landed on Sardinia and Corsica. It is a certainty that Sicily would be one of the stepping stones for invasion of the continent from Africa.

Northwest of Malta is the island of Pantelleria, Italian naval and air base. It lies about as near to Tunisia as Malta to Sicily. Curiously enough, in view of the economic importance of Tunisia and the strategic importance of Tunisia to France, France possessed no Mediterranean islands on the direct route from the mainland to French North Africa. Corsica lies off to one side, southeast of France, and between Corsica and Africa lies Sardinia.

Due north of Algeria, but nearer to Europe than to Africa, are the Balearic islands. Their status is a matter of confusion. During the Spanish civil war, rumor said that Gen. Franco had promised at least one of the Balearics to Italy in return for assistance, but the Franco government has denied this.

Other rumors have been that Spain has leased naval, submarine, or air bases on the Balearics to the Axis. If American occupation of Tunisia has persuaded Gen. Franco to take a more independent stand—and if such bases do exist—Mediterranean waters may become safer for Allied shipping.

At the other end of the Mediterranean lies Crete, taken by German parachute troops after the conquest of Greece proper. Crete is only 75 miles from the mainland, but some 200 miles from Egypt, and the British were unable to hold the island against the German onslaught.

Due east of Crete is Cyprus, and Germany was expected to move on that British island after taking over Crete. But Cyprus is 350 miles from Crete, only 100 miles from Syria—a considerable geographical differential against the Axis. No move was made against Cyprus.

Adjoining Crete on the northeast and stretching to the Asia Minor mainland are the Dodecanese ("twelve") islands and Rhodes. These were occupied by Italy in 1912, during the Italian Turkish war, and were formally ceded to Italy by Turkey in 1924 by the Treaty of Lausanne. The cession was an unwilling one, and Turkey may move on Italy's present plight to demand the return of the islands.

Swedes To Be X-Rayed

By The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM.—The National Association for the Combat of Tuberculosis in Sweden is planning to take X-ray photographs of every Swedish citizen so that a complete picture of the spread of tuberculosis in the nation can be secured. The work will be done by means of traveling laboratories built into special motor buses, containing X-ray apparatus and waiting rooms. The capacity of the laboratory will be 100 X-ray photographs an hour. The first bus of the series to be used in the work is now being constructed.

Public Chooses

Washington Won't Have Much Telling Americans What War Songs They Should Sing.

By DAMON RUNYON

I TOLD you some time ago that it is possible to ordain songs to popularize the public, as OWI valiantly tried to do—without some justification—many of the war minutes of the day.

OWI's idea was that the song writers to put their muses to the grimoire and out things that would reflect the spirit of war. A lot of writers really leveled, gave their very best all along that line of the songs being commended by OWI in most cases the catastrophic part, turned deaf ears to both words and music. Our folks just naturally ask, "What's in it for me?" The lyrics of war songs are completely banal and the music is so to hard-earned sensibilities, but I like the song they are going to sing. As all there is to it. Often the people's songs that are pretty good from any point.

My esteemed contemporary, Variety, knows more about popular songs and writers and the song business generally, than any other public print in existence, remnant week, that the current crop of war songs "again points up the old Tin Pan Parade that you can't sentimentalize the profession of arms; that just what happen and report can predict which Miss. will prove a which just corroborates my argument.

ONE war song that the OWI rather liked but which was off and running in the discussion about appropriate war songs got hot and is certainly not in the class, is "Praise the Lord and Pass the Munition." It was written by Frank Loesser, one of the most brilliant young songwriters to come along in quite a spell. He has a lot of other big hits to his credit, including "I Want to Walk Without You."

It stands first on Variety's list of 100 sellers among the records for songwriters with Irving Berlin's "White Christmas" and, but the latter is the top of the list in sheet music sales. It is from a song. The other best-sellers in records are "The Lights Go On Again," "Der Fuehrer's Face" and "Got a Gal in Kalamazoo."

Loesser took his title from a crack that supposed to have been made by a man of plain while manning a gun in one of the engagements, but which has been variously disclaimed by the dominion, as chaplain, not supposed to engage in such local practices. Probably the remark is apocryphal, like the attributed to Gen. Pershing, "Lafayette, here"—but it is a great line just the same.

I HAD a note not long ago from Loesser, which he states that Gene Lockhart, a song on the same theme about the time Loesser's duty was produced and he Lockhart should have equal credit, when you that Loesser is a generous young fellow.

But it is my conjecture that whatever similarity of the songs, Loesser's will get fame and the money, which by the way, is due to the Navy. But of another indication of his selfishness. (Copyright, 1942, King Features Syndicate Inc.)

Hull's Jiu Jitsu

By SPOON RIVER SAM

Associated Press Features

That Yankee attack on North Africa (a) a thud heard around the world, when 12 strategists fell out of their armchairs. We picked themselves up off the floor, I decided to let Cordell Hull keep his job in the state dept.

It looks like Cordell turned out to be pretty foxy, switching the tables on Adolf's henchmen. Reckon Cordell's motto is, if you mix in with them burns for a spell, might as well get all the inside dope you can, out of 'em, like he done with them sons of Vichy.

In these times a state dept. ain't much account unless it goes in for a little diplomatic jiu jitsu side.

Diplomacy never was much anyhow except lot of convincing covered up with a derby and a pair of striped pants. If you do them pants dirty nowadays you'll get 'em away from you.

The modern diplomat has to be a G-man and a diplomat when he gets caught. We've copied some of the enemies' tricks a figure Hitler and Japan out. You could just opposite to the way they acted. We opposite too, but the other fellow ain't about it till we've done went. That's the refinement comes in.

Hercules as Chore Boy

COLUMBUS.—Hercules was quite a cepet workman in his time but he would be just chore boy on a Buckeye farm. Ohio farmers are asked to grow more food in 1943 under handicap of a labor shortage and while confronted with a rationing system that limits 1943 new farm machinery output to approximately 20 per cent of the quantity manufactured in 1940-41.

Directors of national policy had to decide between using steel for farm implements, tanks, guns and shells. The decision was that farmers could maintain food production with limited amount of new machinery if plenty repair parts were available and that steel is to be thrown at the enemy.

Agricultural engineers at Ohio State university say Ohio farmers did an excellent job crop production with limited means in 1942, as everyone expects them to succeed in the next season take now assigned them. The job is possible if every farm machine is inspected and if proper repairs are made early enough avoid breakdowns while the machines are use.

The allotment of steel for repair parts has been increased so plenty of repairs will be available if advance orders are placed for them. It will be impossible in many cases to replace parts immediately so early orders are essential. Implement dealers have their troubles in getting quick service on orders and in securing competent help to repair machines.

New machinery available for sale in 1943 will be released by a county rationing board to farmers that the board members believe can use machine to the best advantage. In most cases the power machinery will be released to operators who can assure the board it will be used the maximum possible number of hours in 1943.

The name of Prince Rupert, western terminus of the Canadian National Railway, was chosen in a prize contest in which 18,000 participated.

In 1922, American farmers raised 3,000,000 bushels of soy beans. The 1943 crop is 20,000,000 bushels.

California has invested $14,000,000 in parks and monuments.

WELL DONE

"I Know Something About
Your Husband that YOU Ought to Know!"

HAVE YOU ever noticed your husband when he orders a meal in a restaurant? Chances are you've never seen him order any fancy dishes with high-sounding names. Good plain food is what a man's after. And that's what he'll take when he has his way.

Notice I said, "good plain food"? Well, there's hardly anything "plainer" than bread. And if it's good there isn't a man alive that won't really "go for" it. Just try this and prove it to yourself:

Get a loaf of Omar Bread and put four or five of those appetizing golden-crust slices on the dinner table. And while you're eating, sort of call your husband's attention to the fact that it is Omar Bread. (This is to let him know that he can expect it to be better.) Then just watch what happens.

You'll see what a man will do when he gets bread that is—as they say it, "Good eating." And no matter what else you're serving for dinner, the bread-plate will come in for a lot of attention! That's because Omar Bread is made for good eating.

NY-SCORE BAKING METHOD GUARDS OMAR'S GOODNESS

CRUST, Golden-brown. Smooth and soft.

TEXTURE, Fully-developed cell structure. Cake-like appearance.

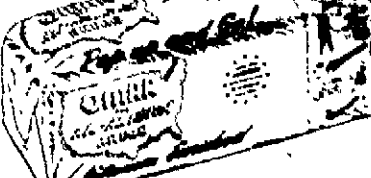

FLAVOR, Fresh, wholesome, wheaty aroma and a delightful taste that everyone enjoys.

FOOD VALUE, 99% digestible. An unexcelled source of lasting energy.

VITAMINS AND MINERALS, Enriched with Vitamin B₁, Nicotin and Iron in food form for nerve health, good digestion and good blood.

FRESHNESS, Out-of-the-Oven freshness that brings out the best in good bread.

How does the bread you are now using compare with Omar on these important qualities?

80,000 Expected To See Michigan, Ohio State Battle for Big 10 Title

Ohioan's "Edge" May Be Deciding Difference Between Two Almost Equal Grid Teams.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 20.—That undefinable something known in sports as "an edge"—an intangible mental and physical sharpness—may decide the nation's top football classic between Michigan and Ohio State here tomorrow.

That was how close the two speedy, powerful Western conference squads stacked up today as they rested for the encounter before some 80,000 fans. It'll be an "edge" that'll give one of the teams that extra spurt to beat an equally strong opponent.

Michigan had a keen "edge" last week in beating Notre Dame 32 to 20. If Michigan can key itself up again this week it may blast Ohio's conference championship hopes. If it cannot, look out! Ohio has pointed for this one all season.

Both teams finished their heavy practice sessions yesterday, polishing new plays and taking another look at the foe's formations. Ohio gridgers will take a brief "limbering up" workout this afternoon, but Michigan will spend the time traveling. It will not see any action again until Saturday's pre-game warm-up sessions. Tommy James, Ohio's injured "spot" runner, worked out for the first time yesterday but did not appear to be in condition to see much action. He could barely use his right arm because of a shoulder separation suffered in the Illinois game.

Outside of a dearth of halfbacks, Ohio was in good condition. Michigan has an abundance of backfield material, but has been forced to use its regular linemen—the "seven oak boys"—most of each game due to a lack of reserve strength. Michigan, with a fourth place national ranking in Ohio's fifth in The Associated Press poll of sports experts, ruled a slight favorite. But there were plenty of bets, with all kinds of odds, floating around favoring both eleven.

Fritz Crisler, Michigan coach, informed that Michigan was a 10 to 7 favorite, said, "Isn't that funny? The last time we were favorites in a big game was up at Minneapolis and I remember what happened! Our scout, Ernie McCoy, says Ohio State is the best team in the mid-west, and that's the assumption we're working on as we leave here."

Michigan lost its only conference game to Minnesota. Ohio also lost one, to Wisconsin. For the season Michigan has won six and lost two, while Ohio's record is seven and one.

"Y" To Sponsor New Industrial Basketball League; Starts Dec. 1.

By LOREN W. THIBAU
Marion Star Sports Editor

Replacing the Junior Chamber of Commerce independent basketball league which operated last season at the Armory gymnasium on West Church street, the Y. M. C. A. will sponsor an eight-team industrial basketball league this year, J. H. Mewhorter, Y. M. C. A. program director, announced today.

Although plans have not been completed the league is expected to start Dec. 1. Tuesday night has been set aside for all league competition, Mewhorter said.

Already four teams have been entered and other teams necessary to complete the league are expected to file eligibility lists this week. In all possible cases teams will be composed only of employees of one industrial concern. However, because of the manpower shortage and heavy war production schedules of most manufacturers, the league has consented to a plan whereby players from smaller shops can join teams representing larger concerns.

In charge of conduct of the league will be a committee including all team managers, a member of the "Y" physical education committee and the "Y" program director. Team managers have been requested to attend a second league organization meeting next Tuesday night at the Y to complete league regulations and to elect officers.

Representatives attending the first meeting Tuesday night were Robert Scott of the Commercial Steel Castings Co., Virgil Smith of the Fairfield Engineering Co., L. H. Parker of the General Excavator Co., John McKeever of Local 1917 of U. S. A. of the Alloy Cast Steel Co., Robert H. Offutt of the Marion Steam Shovel Co., Gene Roth of the Huber Manufacturing Co., R. A. Humphrey of the Universal Color Corp. and George Baum of the Seeto Ordnance plant.

OHIO HIGH SCHOOL GROUP TO RULE ON CAGE TOURNAMENTS

Fate of State Basketball Events To Be Decided Today.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, Nov. 20.—A meeting to decide the fate of Ohio's high school basketball tournaments will be held here tomorrow.

Six members of the state high school athletic board met with H. R. Thompson, state commissioner, to discuss the 1943 basketball season and related matters. They will report to the country, which will vote on the matter for the 1943 season.

Need 80 Coaches
A lack of coaches already has led to the dropping of the 1943 Class B school basketball tournament. The basketball board has been cancelled by the state athletic board because of difficulty in obtaining adequate transportation facilities.

There has been considerable speculation that the state finals might be postponed until after the war and only district tournaments held. There also has been talk that all tournaments would be called off.

Last year, the Class A schools held regional eliminators after the district tournaments to decide winners for the final played at Kent. The Class B tournament was held at Springfield. Both had to be snuffed away from the Columbus-Batavia coliseum which was used for the American Football Congress.

The coliseum now is occupied by the army. Columbus afforded a central location with a minimum of travel for most teams. Location of the state tournaments away from here would force teams to handle a more difficult transportation problem.

Public Carriers Out
High schools already are prohibited from using school buses for chartering public carrier buses for athletic trips, leaving private automobiles, and regular bus and train service as the only travel means.

Since school administrators will receive extra gasoline allowances under the rationing program, some athletic directors hope to use these private cars in transporting teams. Two automobiles would accommodate the average team.

If tournament are discontinued temporarily, most high schools plan to continue basketball as a "winter" play sport, continuing sport. However, schedules may be arranged so that schools within certain areas play more games, with each other. Now, schedules generally provide for a single home-and-home game.

Massillon, Canton To Play Grudge Game Tomorrow

By The Associated Press
MASSILLON, O., Nov. 20.—Those irrepressible Massillon Tigers, with a football record unsurpassed nationally, meet their toughest foe tomorrow. Canton McKinley, that "grudge" rival from down the track.

McKinley has had one game and lost one, but steady improvement displayed during the past three weeks has raised the hopes of its followers that it can beat Massillon, something no team has been able to do since 1937.

Massillon will be handicapped by the injury of Bobby Graber, its triple-threat backfield star, who has a sprained ankle. Twenty-two thousand fans more than most college attract will watch the struggle in Massillon's stadium.

Massillon's record for national football supremacy is based on 91 victories and two ties against three defeats in 99 games played since 1933.

McKinley hasn't beaten Massillon since 1934.

Bob Lucas, Paulding's Great Negro Back, Sets New Grid Scoring Mark

Three-Year Total Equals National Scholastic Records Held Jointly by Tom Harmon and Billy Hillenbrand.

By The Associated Press
PAULDING, O., Nov. 20.—Tears ran down the cheeks of Bob Lucas, Paulding High school's big full back, after the game with Versailles although he had set a scoring record for high school gridgers to shoot at.

Lucas, with 278 points for nine games, was downhearted because his team was unable to upset Versailles' unbeaten Frenchmen. He said after the Friday night game that his scoring record didn't count. He wanted to win that game which Paulding lost 13 to 6.

Runs 80 Yards
The 18-year-old baldheaded Negro ran the opening Versailles kickoff 80 yards for a touchdown, but he was stopped cold after that.

These six points gave him 278 for the season, a total no one has been close to, and 475 for three years of play which started in Lucas' freshman year.

Ernie Rulman, Chamber of Commerce publicity agent, said that the 475 tied the national record for three years of competition made by Tom Harmon of Gary, Ind., later a Michigan star, and a year to play football.

In school, Lucas is an average student. At Paulding, he still has a year to play football.

Lucas was held scoreless only once, when Paulding lost 27 to 0 to Defiance, the only Class A school played by Paulding. The other opponents were the smaller, Class B schools.

Lucas' record for three years of play was 475 points, a total no one has been close to, and 475 for three years of play which started in Lucas' freshman year.

DUROCHER SIGNS TO MANAGE DODGERS FOR FIFTH SEASON

But Things Will Be Different at Ebbets Field, Rickey Lets Fans Know.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The curtain was pulled down on the best baseball manager to take off on an even keel as the Eastern League of the life and good times of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Branch Rickey, the new president of the Dodgers, announced yesterday that Leo Durocher had signed a contract to manage the Dodgers for his fifth season, but made it plain that things would be different at Ebbets Field next year.

Things will be different, Rickey said, because Durocher will be a general manager, not a manager, and will be in charge of the club's business.

Durocher said he would be a general manager, not a manager, and will be in charge of the club's business. He said he would be a general manager, not a manager, and will be in charge of the club's business.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

HARRY UNDERWOOD'S warning rang in my ears on my way home to the hotel in the crowded car my father had sent for me, and as I waited in my suite for the arrival of the old man of the cafe, I tried to steel myself for the difficult interview.

I had been carried away in the cafe by sympathy for an apparently old and hunted man. Now I was to face a man who, I had been warned, might be playing against the lives of Olga and China and Georges.

But there was no way out of it now, and when the expected knock upon the door came, my hands and knees were trembling.

Only the remembrance that my father was in the adjoining suite with the door ajar, so that I could get through it quickly in a possible emergency, enabled me to steady myself and go to my outer door to admit my strange visitor.

Then, with my tiny silver pistol concealed in my gown, I opened the door.

The old man of the cafe, an imposing figure in his bizarre get-up, stood just outside the door, hat in hand, picture of formal, old-world courtesy, and as I held out my hand he bent and kissed it.

"I am very glad to have you here," I said with a sudden relaxation of my fears. His was no sinister friend, I felt sure, despite the warnings I had received.

But I felt a bit breathless as I gestured to a chair with a stand close to it. Then with speed and deftness incredible for a man of his apparent age he laid his hat on the stand and reached my chair in time to seat me before he sat down.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Children's Development

AFTER THE age of four, you will find no reliable rules to guide you about the development of your children. There are no nice summaries. Some are tall, some are short, some fat, some skinny, some quick, some slow with their school work, some are silent, some loquacious and yet all these varieties are quite normal.

Happy are children if parents during these years see their characteristics and within reasonable limits allow them to follow their respective bent. Sex has not yet entered into the picture to any extent and the child can be guided without consideration of the storms that part of life imposes.

Physically, a child from four to seven should grow about two or three inches a year, and gain from three to six pounds a year. This is a terrific change in rate from what has been happening up to that time. It means that clothes are likely to wear out before they have been outgrown, for one thing.

The capacity of children of four to ten for storing away food is the despair of aging gourmets who have to stop almost before they have begun to eat. A child psychologist with the mathematical meticulousness that characterizes that species, records that at a birthday party of ten children, five and six year old, four and a half dozen sandwiches (ham, egg, cheese and jelly), two and a half glasses of milk apiece, a large piece of birthday cake apiece, a plate of ice cream each and so much candy it couldn't be counted was consumed. And this was just a little extra light snack. They all went home and probably tore into quite a sizeable supper.

I make no comments on the ethics, or at least the good taste, of a child psychologist snoring on a quiet (?) gathering of this kind, but it certainly shows that children of this age can handle adult-sized portions of food.

I think it is very important at this age to teach a child to eat a great variety of foods, especially vegetables. Also to guard against forming prejudices against foods. I can recommend this with some fervor because my own childhood was not so wisely guided in this respect, and I have found only in adult life what pleasures I missed by being perfectly positive I did not like certain articles of food. I was thirty-five years old before I began to like cauliflower. (And, off the record, snails and eels are now my secret passion.)

I am firmly convinced that a careful annual physical examination by a doctor, preferably the family doctor, should be made on children from the age of four to ten. Of course, they should be examined before that too, but up to the age of four they will probably be frequently sick and the doctor will see them fairly regularly anyhow.

From four to seven there are not likely to be any definite signs that take the child to the doctor, hence the examination is likely to be neglected. But these are the years when certain tendencies begin that develop into serious handicaps in adult life, and this is the time to check them.

Questions and Answers.
A. M.—Is there any reason for bruising easily? The least little bump makes a large bruise. A week ago I took a light massage and as a result have black marks all over my body.

Answer: It certainly calls for a blood examination to test clotting time and bleeding time.

R. G. S.—Is there anything you can do for lack of pigment on the face? Anything you can put on to conceal the spots?

Answer: Vitiligo, or lack of pigment in the skin in spots, has never yielded to any treatment. The best skin dye is walnut hull juice diluted by alcohol to proper color. A prescription given by Goodman ("Cosmetic Dermatology") is:

Extract of powdered juglans, 2½ drams; 5 per cent solution of camphor in aromatic ammonia, 5 drams; Alcohol—enough to make 3 ounces.

HEALTH SEALS TO BE SENT OUT SATURDAY

Annual Anti-TB Sale To Start in County.

Marion city and county residents Monday will begin receiving their 1942 Christmas seals.

O. H. P. Snyder, chairman of the 1942 sale, announced today.

About 1,000 letters with seals will be put in the mail Saturday and an additional 2,000 special letters with larger quantities of seals will be mailed early in the week by Mrs. W. E. Miley, executive secretary of the Marion County Anti-Tuberculosis league, sponsor of the sale.

All letters this year will contain at least $2 worth of seals. The county's quota this year is $3,000, a goal set by the National Tuberculosis association.

The 1942 Christmas seal shows a red barn and a white farmhouse in the background of a snowy country scene. In the foreground is a drift-lined road on which is shown an old-fashioned well-trodden sleigh drawn by two horses.

Dale Nichols, designer of the seal, is one of the outstanding younger American artists whose paintings are hung in many museums and private collections, including the Metropolitan museum, the Art Institute of Chicago, and the University of Illinois.

With poise, prudence and sound judgment there may be promise of building basic foundations for future development and long-term success. This may concern industry, investments, savings or securities of established worth.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a year of some safe and sound success, gained by labor, rational ideas, savings, investments or long-term securities. Property is also on a firm foundation, but this is all subject to risk or jeopardy by impetuous, rash emotionalism or

Rationing of Coffee Hits Fighting Man

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 20—Coffee rationing already has come to the fighting man.

He's limited to 40 cups a month at 14 rationing camps and even the emergency ration kit he carries on the battlefield furnishes him only one cup for three meals.

The quartermaster depot here, where more than half of the entire army's ration kits are packed, is adding two other drinks for the day—chocolate and lemon juice.

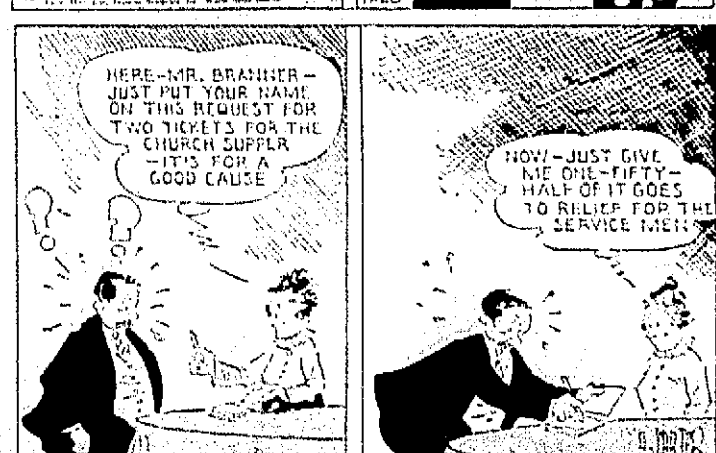

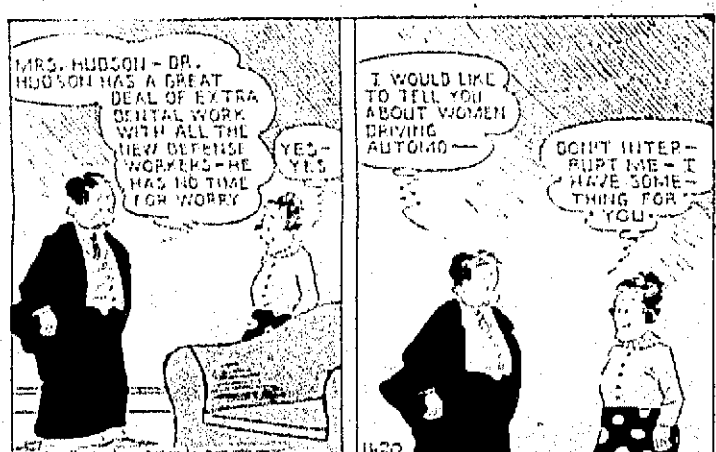

The depot says army butter rations also have been reduced sharply. Tea supplies are being stretched by longer brewing.

Indulgence in whims or "hunches" also there may be dangerous from a public or group entanglement or scheme.

A child born on this day although earnest, competent and industrious may be carried away by its emotions or impulses.
